Falcon Theatre
Presents

Where's Poppa?

Based on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Film and the novel by Robert Klane.

Written by Robert Klane
Directed by Gordon Hunt

Previews begin February 28th for the 23-Performance Engagement

OPENS FRIDAY, March 9th at 8PM

The Falcon Theatre is pleased to announce the cast for its world premiere stage adaptation of the classic Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film and the novel by Robert Klane. Where's Poppa?, the fourth show in the Falcon's 2006-07 subscription season, opens Friday, March 9th at 8pm.

Director Gordon Hunt (Mad About You, Frasier) brings the madcap stage adaptation of Robert Klane's dark comedy classic to the Falcon! Where's Poppa? follows the hilariously eccentric family of the Hocheisers. The middle-aged son's love life is constantly being ruined by his over-possessive and jealous mother. Unfortunately, he promised his dying father never to put Momma in a home. But when Momma's lovely new live-in nurse arrives, he resolves his only chance for freedom is to scare his mother to death in this absurdist, fun-filled comedy!

The limited 23-performance engagement stars (in alphabetical order) Marylouise Burke, Katie MacNichol, Jeff Marlow, Rob Nagle, Barry Pearl and Ellen Ratner.

Robert Klane (Playwright) graduated from the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, with Honors in Writing. After graduating, he worked in the advertising business in New York before beginning his first novel, The Horse is Dead, between writing commercial spots. With the success of The Horse is Dead, Mr. Klane left the agency business and followed up with a second novel, Where's Poppa?, which was made into a cult classic film starring George Segal and Ruth Gordon and was directed by Carl Reiner. This led to years of toiling in the film and TV industry (earning him an Emmy Award), and after a couple of dozen movies, Mr. Klane is finally hitting the boards.

Gordon Hunt (Director) was nominated twice for the Directors Guild of America Award for Best Director of a Comedy and won the award for his work on Mad About You. He has directed over 50 episodes of such TV shows as Frasier, Suddenly Susan, and many others. In the theatre, he has directed plays and musicals on both coasts, including Leonard Bernstein's Mass at the Hollywood Bowl, where he also directed My Fair Lady, The Music Man, Mame and Camelot starring Jeremy Irons & Melissa Errico. For Reprise! he has directed 1776, She Loves Me, and Pippin. For thirteen years he has directed the Salon series at the Mark Taper Forum starring Michael Feinstein. In New York he directed the all-star Centennial Salute to Noel Coward at Carnegie Hall, and Black Water, an opera with libretto by Joyce Carol Oates, and a number of plays and workshops. He is the author of the bestselling theatre book How to Audition, and as a lyricist he won the MACC award for best song of the year for "Errol Flynn," which he wrote with Amanda McBroom.

Marylouise Burke ('Momma Hocheiser') played 'Jack's Mom' at the Ahmanson Theatre and on Broadway in the recent revival of Sondheim's Into the Woods, and has originated roles in a host of new plays – receiving a BackStage West Garland Award for the title role in the South Coast Rep production of David Lindsay-Abaire's Kimberly Akimbo and a Drama Desk Award for David's Fuddy Meers (Manhattan Theatre Club). Her regional stage work includes La Jolla Playhouse, NY Stage & Film, Long Wharf, Hartford Stage, and the Lettice and Lovage national tour with Julie Harris. Where's Poppa?Theatrical release posterDirected byCarl ReinerProduced byJerry TokofskyMarvin WorthWritten byRobert Klane (novel & screenplay)Starr.Â Sidney has troubles of his own, though, repeatedly getting mugged in Central Park. Gordon, a lawyer, made a deathbed promise to his father not to place his mother in a rest home. She continuously asks, "Where's Poppa?" His repeated response is, "Still dead." Gordon locates a nurse, Louise, whose patients have a peculiar habit of dying in her care.
